As a successful businesswoman building a thriving brand over the past six years, she has successfully launched three businesses while also attaining her Life Coach Certification. She has taught at local schools speaking to at-risk teen girls about self-love and helping them know their worth. Through this outreach, her customer base has grown rapidly within a just few short years and has led to accolades as being recognized for her achievements and awarded with the "Girl on Fire" award by Pose Magazine.

HER EXPERIENCES

A survivor of domestic violence, depression, suicidal thoughts, sexual abuse, and homelessness, these harrowing experiences taught her endurance, however, amid turmoil she discovered her strength in overcoming barriers and the importance of self-love--the lessons that she courageously shares with her audiences. These experiences and the principles learned through her life coach certification help her reach women, calling them to live at the level God has called them to be.

By sharing her insight with women groups, women-led conferences, and startup businesses, she has become a sought-after speaker, consultant, and empowerment expert. But even more, she has a story that's grounded in overcoming the many obstacles that life has thrown her way, including overcoming low self-worth. She shares her stories to help women know that no matter what has happened, the test is their testimony.

Testimonials

WHERE DO I BEGIN...

Tamisa and I have worked together for about 3-4 years. I knew she was something else by the way she carried herself. Long story short, I lost a child a couple years ago and was in a dark place. Tamisa would constantly pray for me, and with me. She is such a positive light to have around. In 2019 I get pregnant again. Filled with doubt, and constant worry. She continued to pray for me and over me to reassure that unknown to shall pass and baby and I will be simply fine. She was so right. On October 21, 2019 I was blessed with a healthy 9lb 10oz baby boy who has just completed our family. I am so thankful for having a praying, God fearing friend in my life! She has some great things in store, and she deserves everything and more!!! I love and appreciate all prayers and encouraging motivational talks we have. I aspire to be as confident and knowledgeable as she is one day! Love you girl ♥♥ is nothing short of wonderful! Her love for speaking to women that have overcome adversity or are in the midst of a difficult situation is unmatched! She speaks from her heart and does not mind sharing the truth of the pain and the obstacles that she has endured over time which have caused her to be a relatable and engaging speaker! Tamisa's personality is infectious people love her wherever she goes and when she speaks to women about their ability to make it past their pain live are changed for the better! Just know that when Tamisa speaks to you it's coming from her heart and in the world with a lot of fakes and phonies it's great to have someone genuine. Best Regards,

MY EXPERIENCE WITH TAMISA HUNTER
